Pete Moss and the Bog Band (www.bogband.com) got its start in 2004 when a group of 6th grade boys at the Washington Waldorf School (Bethesda, MD), along with Mitch Fanning, their string class teacher, formed a fiddle club to play traditional Irish music. The boys thought it would be really cool to learn traditional Irish fiddling and hoped in the process to get good enough to perform and help raise money for their 8th grade class trip. It wasn't long before "Pete Moss & The Bog Boys" made a name for themselves across greater DC., appearing at numerous venues including Irish ceillis, Discovery Theater, and the Potomac Celtic Festival. Soon the Bog Boys expanded to include members from 6 local elementary, middle, and high schools. Since the group recorded its first CD, Got Bog?, others have joined, including some really good fiddlers who happen to be girls - hence the name change to "Pete Moss & The Bog Band."

About The Culkin School of Traditional Irish Dance

The Culkin School was founded by Sean Culkin in 1997 to preserve the unique tradition of Irish music and dance and pass it on to new generations of dancers. Students who wish to compete are trained to do so—the school has produced many champions—but those who chose not to also have opportunities to enjoy what they've learned through ceilis and performances scheduled throughout the year. More than 400 adults and kids are currently enrolled in learning opportunities including regular classes, ir mini-mesters, and the ever-popular summer camps at Glen Echo Park. For information, see www.culkinschool.com or call 301-593-9600.
