The Little Bread Hen

Welcome to Discovery Theater! We are excited to present Barefoot Puppet's Little Bread Hen, the story of a certain Red Hen named Millie. You will find out where she first learned to bake bread, and you'll discover why the other animals on the farm would not help her. This show is an original work by Barefoot Puppet Theatre. Heidi Rugg designs and creates all of the puppets in the Barefoot Puppets studio. In this show, you will see a wide variety of types of puppets: hand puppets, rod puppets and object puppets.

About Barefoot Puppets

Barefoot Puppet Theatre (www.barefootpuppets.com) tours award-winning programs to theatres, schools, libraries, children's museums and more. Their shows feature contemporary adaptations of world folktales, classic tales with a twist, myths, and works based on true stories. Their scripts, puppets, music and sets are all original. They know that children's shows need to be fun and interactive, so each script is carefully written to create a rhythm that balances the actions, words, and music of the production with the laughter and spontaneity of the children.

Yum! Yum! Yum! How to Make Monkey Bread

- 4 cans refrigerator biscuits (about 40)
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cinnamon
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 cup white sugar
- 1 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1/2 cup pecans, add raisins if you'd like.

Cut each biscuit into 4 pieces. Pour sugar and cinnamon into a plastic bag and mix.

Add biscuit pieces, several at a time; shake to coat well.

Place pieces in a buttered tube or Bundt pan until all are used.

Sprinkle layers with nuts or raisins .

Bring brown sugar and butter to a boil in saucepan. Cool 10 minutes, then pour over top of biscuits.

Bake at 350°F for 45 minutes. Allow to cool 15 minutes before removing from pan. Turn upside down to serve.

About Discovery Theater

Discovery Theater, the Smithsonian Institution's theater for children, has been dedicated to offering the best in live performing arts for young people since 1979. Each year, more than 50,000 Washington-area children and their adults visit DT (now located in the Smithsonian's S. Dillon Ripley Center on the National Mall in Washington, DC) to explore American history and cultures, folk tales from around the world, and exciting, accessible science and math programs in the company of puppeteers, storytellers, dancers, actors, musicians and mimes.
